

CLUB WOMEN ASSEMBLE IN ST. LOUIS THIS WEEK.

MRS. EMMA A. FOX, SECOND VICE PRESIDENT.

Three thousand attractive club women and the same number or more of fascinating newspaper men "in our midst" this week.

What may we not expect? But—here's a pertinent query: Do club women flit? Or, rather, WILL they flit? If the recording secretary of the Kettle Point, Rhode Island, Literary and Scientific Sketch Club should, perchance, intercept a fleeting smile as it curves about the mustaches of the steamboat editor of the Poplarville Pioneer Press, as they chance to meet while passing in review before Festival Hall, or get stuck in the same mud hole in front of the Woman's building, will the recording secretary, etc., return said smile?

If so, will she accompany the lip-curve with a gentle but unspeakable flicker of the left eyelashes upon the left cheek?

And what, thereupon, will be the consequent effect on municipal reform and improvements in Pennsylvania forestry? Why shouldn't she? She is away from home and may not be seen.

We can only wait and hope.

Mrs. Daniel Catlin and Miss Irene Catlin have had some well-known New York society women with them this last week, and that phrase is used, this time, with all sincerity and suitability. Mrs. White-law Redd, returning eastward in the Redd private car from a two-months' stay in California, had with her Miss Jean Reid and Miss Alice Barney, the three stopping over a couple of days as guests of the Catlins. As their stay was very short the only entertaining consisted of drives, a Country Club visit, and a dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. William K. Kavanaugh expect to get much comfort and the exercise of considerable hospitality out of their beautiful river home, Selma Hall, this summer. Last year it was in a formula condition, so to speak, but this season Mr. Kavanaugh has everything either completed or else mapped out and ready for the workman. The place is ravishing in its riot of outdoor greens, heavy-scented lilacs, a superb view at every turn, to say nothing of the interior comforts and elegances. Robert Brookings left the house in excellent repair, so that the Kavanahs have done little else than build new things, such as a magnificent residence for Monsieur and Madame Fowl, extensive stables, a creamery that is a perfect wonder, an ice house, and some charming little stone structures of the same architecture as the Hall, that are to be used for machinery and other useful purposes.

Guests who are so fortunate as to be invited to spend the week-end at Selma come away exclaiming over its beauties and the gracious hospitality of its owners. The Kavanahs will, in all probability, have the house full each Sunday during the summer and expect to entertain scores of World's Fair guests in this charming manner. Miss Mary Kimball is down at Selma now and will remain for many weeks. Last week Miss Mary Clark and Alfred Longden, R. A., one of the English artists over for the Fair, were down from Friday till Monday. Mr. Longden, by the way, had no conception of the beauty of our spring scenery, this is his first visit to America and the good old State of Missouri.

So he sought the wild parts of Forest Park and took a peep at South Grand avenue, and might never have known what the river could furnish in the way of views had he not reached Selma. His enthusiasm was refreshing and thoroughly satisfying, even to us, who live here and who have grown accustomed to river beauties.
